

ABSTRACT

An IC package is assembled from a bumpless die, a die carrier having a plurality of solder bumps thereon, and a heat spreader lid. The bumpless die is bonded to the heat spreader lid to form a module and then the module is bonded to the bumped die carrier.